EDITED BY
ROBERT EDGRENSome Key Paragraphs to Fighting Stories of the Day and Other Things.

JACK POWELL has been notified that he must either quit baseball or sell out of the saloon business. Perhaps Manager McLeary fears that Jack's elbow will "crook" so much he will lose control of the high ball. Or will delivering straight drink spoil his curves?

FRANK BERNIE is to Yale, where he will teach boxing, reminds one of Jim Corbett's experience in the Yale gymnasium. This was before James went out to California to fight Jim Jeffries a couple of years ago.

Jim, doing a monologue tour, landed in New Haven. He was given a cordial invitation to visit the gymnasium, where some of the football men were training at the time. Jim went. It was good advertising for the show.

Shelvin was in the gym. Some one got Corbett a suit and he went in to box a little. Shelvin was the first victim.

Just then Tom was in good shape and he knew something about the game, too. He waded into Corbett with both hands busy. Corbett jabbed a few times and bit—Shelvin's first landed on the ex-champ's jaw. Corbett picked himself up and went on boxing. Soon he lost his wind and his speed, and Shelvin knocked him down again.

"That'll do for to-day," said Corbett. "I'm pretty soft, and you're pretty good, young man. I'll be back again some time when I'm in better trim."

But he never did.

How many Shelvins will be looking for Ernie?

JOE GANS is thinking of fighting Mike (Twin) Sullivan in Al Herford's club, Baltimore. Looks as if the "bad white man" who "corrupted" Joseph's naturally pure ring morals was getting his hooks into the dusky fighter again. Some of the "wise" people say Herford never really let Gans go, but was "in" on his "Pisces" fight with Sullivan, and not only shared the purse but won heavily by betting on Gans, knowing that he was "right" and was out to win.

Joe himself contradicts this. He says he's "sure" with Mr. Herford, and that Mr. Herford never again can induce him to disregard his own ill-repute inclinations and throw a fight.

It's great to have a "bad white man." Beats the "little black man" all hollow. P. S.—A "bad white man" and a "little black man" together can beat four Aces.

JACK O'BRIEN wants Jack Palmer, the English boxer, to come over here and fight. Palmer prefers to settle this match, like the international chess tournaments, by cable. O'Brien naively explains that he wants to have the battle near his old home, Philadelphia. Why, Jeffries couldn't beat Jack there. Why, Jeffries couldn't beat Jack there. Why, Jeffries couldn't beat Jack there. Why, Jeffries couldn't beat Jack there.

YOUNG MULDOON AND SWANSON are to fight at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 4.

Young Muldoon and Alex Swanson, who recently defeated George Bothner, will wrestle to-night at the Olympic A. C., Lexington avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. Muldoon, who has many admirers, has been doing good work of late, and in a recent tour of the United States defeated all the best of the grapplers in his class in that section of the country.

They will wrestle to a finish, catch-as-catch-can style, best two out of three falls.

There will be three preliminary bouts between Charles Weil and Harry Model, Harry Pekinsky and Young Rosser, Dan Macomber and Young Jeffries.

The winner of the match may be matched to meet George Bothner.

KENTUCKY ROSEBUD ENTERS. The Kentucky Rosebud, who several years ago gained fame as being a top-toucher in the feather-weight division, and who of late has been on the vaudeville stage, has added his name to the list of entries for the cakewalk that is to be held at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 4.

AT IRISH A. A. C. BIG GAMES

Several Features on the Programme that Should Appeal to Lovers of Sport.

THERE is likely to be a surprise in the great ten-mile race at the Irish-American Athletic Club's carnival in Madison Square Garden to-night. Johnny Joyce, who was believed to have the race in the palm of his hand, has suddenly been confronted by the fact that Billy Frank is showing surprising form at distance work, and has done some fine try-outs. But there are wise tips going around that Basson, the junior Metropolitan cross-country champion, has the endurance and speed to carry the prize away.

There are twenty-six competitors in the event, and as they are all candidates of class the race should be the greatest long-distance event ever seen indoors. The special prize for the victor in this contest is the handsomest offered to an amateur athlete in this country. It is a diamond-studded badge, the gift of Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling.

The most interesting event to the grown-ups, particularly to the women, will be the midget relay race. This event has been carefully framed up to make it as even a contest as possible by restricting the little fellows who will compete from the public schools to a maximum of ninety pounds weight. T. R. Dray, who broke the indoor record at the Columbia games, clear the type and an altitude of twelve feet will be bound to bring gasps of surprise.

Another good feature of the fine programme will be the arrangement by the pole vault will be another event of a spectacular character that will appeal to the masses.

COLUMBIA MEETS
BROWN AT HOCKEY

This week on skates at the St. Nicholas Rink will close this evening with the seventh game in the intercollegiate series between Columbia and Brown. Of the three games already played by Columbia the scores were: Columbia 4, Princeton 2; Harvard 7, Columbia 0; Yale 4, Columbia 0. The Brownians have played but two games: Princeton 6, Brown 4; and Yale 9, Brown 0. The Brown seven is improved in form and its adherents believe that after two night Brown's percentage in the championship race will equal Columbia's. The three remaining games in this schedule are Feb. 10, Yale vs. Princeton; Feb. 11, Harvard vs. Princeton; and Feb. 12, the game that will probably decide the championship between Yale and Harvard, at the St. Nicholas Rink.
